Special Character Restrictions
Quick Reference Guide

Version 24.x
Last Modified 24.0 | March 2024

Special Character Rules

- An asterisk () cannot be used as the first character of a key field.

- \ is only allowed to specify a host name where it is always double \\.

- A single \ can be used in directory names but they are automatically converted to forward slashes.

- Characters ;^~| are prohibited in all fields.

- Characters ;^~<>'| are prohibited in fields that are validated via database lookup.

Updates

Release	Section	Description
23.2	All sections	Applied miscellaneous writing style updates throughout the document.